ORANGE SKY LAUNDRY – FREE DRESS DAY

Orange Sky Laundry is Australia’s first mobile laundry service for the homeless. A world first, started in Brisbane by two 20 year olds, the custom fitted van has been servicing parks and drop in centres across Brisbane and the wider area with its two industrial washers and dryers. Orange Sky wants to expand its services Australia wide by the end of 2015.

We will be holding a free dress day on this Friday to help raise funds for this needy cause. Children will be allowed to come in free dress, (wearing something orange if possible,) for a gold coin donation. Children in Year 5 and 6 will need to bring their sports clothes with them.

Thank you for your support of this worthy cause.

SCHOOL HOLIDAYS

Another busy term comes to an end with the children and teachers earning a well-deserved rest. Rest is an important part of a healthy lifestyle for all ages. It rejuvenates your body and mind, regulates your mood, and is linked to learning and memory function. On the other hand, not getting enough rest can negatively affect your mood, immune system, memory, and stress level.

I would like to thank our dedicated staff for their efforts throughout the term and wish all families a safe and happy break.

School resumes on Tuesday 6th October.

SCHOOL CAMPS

I had the pleasure of attending the Year 6 camp to Emu Gully and spoke to our Year 5 teachers about the Tallebudgera Camp. Both camps were a great success.

It’s hard to measure the benefits of such events but if we are truly aiming to develop our children not only in the academics but also emotionally, socially and physically, then school camps offer many opportunities to do so.

As always, we had great feedback from the camp coordinators regarding the children’s behaviour, attitude and participation.

KNITTING PROJECT COMING TO AN END

Our knitting project is coming to an end with today being the last day of knitting. Children will be invited to finish their current squares and return them after the holidays. We now have the task of putting the squares together.

It has been a great project in terms of participation and energy. The children have really committed themselves to the cause and are proud of their achievements.

Many thanks to our volunteer helpers; parents, grandparents and teachers who have given up their valuable time to help us with the project. I’m sure the blanket will be treasured by its owner.

SOCIAL JUSTICE SUNDAY

The life and teachings of Jesus Christ call us to work for justice, peace, human rights, and development. All Christians share by their baptism in the mission of Jesus.

Social Justice Sunday is 20th September. Bishop Vincent Long, chairman of the Australian Catholic Social Justice Council, has welcomed the Prime Minister's decision to accept an extra 12,000 refugees from Syria and Iraq. "This is a generous response to suffering that demonstrates the compassion of the Australian people," said Bishop Long. His comments came at this week's launch of the Australian Catholic Bishops' 2015-2016 Social Justice Statement entitled: For Those Who've Come Across the Seas: Justice for refugees and asylum seekers.

The statement calls for the processing of asylum-seeker claims onshore and for the limitation of detention in immigration facilities to the shortest period possible while identity, health and security checks are undertaken. Council members say no child should be detained solely on the basis of immigration status and affirm that all children are entitled to a healthy family life with the support and nurture of their parents.
Let us pray... A prayer for justice for refugees and asylum seekers

God of mercy, help me to remember:
My ancestors came across the seas!
Help me keep in my mind
Those who came long ago
And those who now come to our shores.

As I face you in prayer, God of Compassion,
I remember my country’s words:
Send them back or Stop the boats.
Then I fear, not your anger
But the steady gaze of boundless love
and unlimited compassion
That impel me to hear Jesus’ command:
Love one another, as I have loved you
Or Pope Francis’ call to open our hearts
To a universal communion
Which excludes nothing and no one.

Daring to step into such relationship, I pray
For those forced to leave family,
home and all they hold dear;
May they find safe passage and helping hands.

I pray for an end to the wars and oppression
that forced them to leave;
I pray that those who welcome them
are blessed in abundance.

And with deep humility
and a heart hungry for justice,
I pray that we Australians, citizens and leaders,
Open our eyes, our minds and our hearts
That we may see, understand and welcome
our brothers and sisters.

May our change of heart penetrate to our beginnings
As strangers in this land.
May we allow those we displaced
— the First People of this land — to welcome us.
Then knowing, in humility, what it is to be welcomed,
We will know how to welcome
the strangers who come to our shores.

This we ask in the name of Jesus your Son,
In whom we are no longer strangers. Amen.

TEACHING AND LEARNING

Problem solving and reasoning are not optional extras

“Problem solving and reasoning are not optional extras” was the title of Peter Sullivan’s key note address at the 2015 Literacy and Numeracy Conference. Peter Sullivan is currently Professor of Science, Mathematics and Technology Education, Monash University. He is passionate about mathematics and in particular student engagement. While Peter spoke directly to mathematics the key message of student engagement and active learning can be applied across all learning areas.

He opened his address with the following question. What aspects of learning mathematics are like hunting for Easter eggs, which aspects are like learning to ride a bike, and which are like learning French?

He then proceeded to relate the following story. Early one Easter morning it was Grandad’s job (i.e. him) to hide the Easter eggs for the grandkids to find. When the hunt began Grandma and Mum (the other adults present for the hunt) watched anxiously as the little ones hunted. They (Grandma and Mum) kept wanting to jump in to point out where each egg was, to help so much that in the end maybe just a basket of eggs on the table with a sign Happy Easter was all that was needed. But where is the fun or indeed learning in that? Where is the engagement and challenge and finally the satisfaction of achievement?

Learning is challenging. Peter Sullivan states that when confronted with a task that students cannot do, they need to explore their existing mental structures, explore links, build connections and identify aspects that are unknown for themselves. Students benefit when they move from not knowing how to do something to knowing how to do it. He went on to make another point that thinking … takes time and that it happens only when students are working on tasks that they do not know how to solve.

It is important to provide learners with strategies for learning and give them time to problem solve even if it means spending some time in a “zone of confusion”. Emerging from this zone is when achievement and progress can be celebrated. Learners need to develop a growth mindset and belief that they can achieve with effort and persistence.

Carole Dweck reminds us that those (with growth mindset) who continue to excel in the classroom in spite of setbacks, are those who believe their abilities can be developed through learning and effort. They believe everyone can change and grow by putting forth effort to enhance basic qualities.

ICT NEWS

Recently there have been quite a few updates coming through from Microsoft and it is important that students in the 1:1 laptop program check for and install these on their machines.

To do this, they should go to [Control Panel]

[System and Security]

[Windows Update]

[Check for Updates]

Once the computer identifies updates – Install. Similarly, students should then run a full Virus scan through their computer. Completing these tasks may take a few hours but you must let the laptop run its course and don’t shut it down during any of the installation or scanning processes.

There is also a new Adobe update that requires installation of Acrobat Reader DC. This is available from: https://get.adobe.com/reader/

Whilst most older students do their updates regularly, the holidays is the perfect time to spend updating everything.

In Term 4 we will be closer to knowing if we are able to upgrade to Windows 10 and hope to do this on all student laptops by the end of the year.

Illese Smithwick
Congratulations to Emily Bennett, Year 5 Blue for being awarded a “Highly Commended” in the “Light for Life” Art Competition.

Chess Club has now concluded for the term and we hope to recommence in the second week of Term 4. Thank you to all the children who have participated.
